

Hailsham Town Councillor Biography:

Glynn White

I was born and bred in East Sussex. I've known Hailsham town since the mid-1960s when my parents used to bring me out on their shopping trips (the railway was open then!)

I first worked in the town in 1973. My wife and I bought our first house here in 1974, and we have been Hailsham residents ever since. We raised our family here and they, including the grandchildren, still live locally.

I am a retired engineer/teacher and have been regional Chairman of the Institute of Incorporated Engineers (IIE) and locally, a former governor of White House School.

The town has always seemed to me to be a good place to live, with friendly people and a good atmosphere. This is my opportunity to 'give back' and help to keep it that way.

My priorities for Hailsham in my role as town councillor are to keep Hailsham a pleasant and thriving place to live, and a market town where we are all welcome.
